Volunteer Award Bios

Decade of Dedication Award: Deborah MacDonald
Deborah MacDonald has been an active volunteer in Dorchester since she moved here with her husband, Grant MacDonald over 30 years ago. She volunteered with various groups as they raised their two daughters, but mainly she has dedicated her volunteer time to three organizations in Dorcherster and the surrounding areas.

Deborah was a Chief Guider for the Dorchester Girl Guides over 10 years and has been an active member of the IODE Canada, Shepody Chapter for over 15 years. As a member she has held the office of Services Officer locally, organizing donations for several local organizations. Deborah has also assisted with keeping the flower beds in the Village Square weeded, watered and looking great.

She has also served with the Provincial Chapter as Correspondence Secretary, with the Westmorland Historical Society for over 10 years, serving 9 years on the Board that manages the Keillor House Museum.

Deborah is always there to help with dinners and teas, Haunted House events, other fundraising events, decorating for special events and often helping clean the museum after an event. Deborah is a highly regarded volunteer and is a great example of a person willing to serve their community and help build it for the future.

Long-Term Service Award: Reginald Tower
Reg has been a lifelong volunteer in the community. He has been a member of the Fire Department for nearly 30 years, much of which has been spent as the Deputy Chief. He was a Cubs and Scouts leader for many years and has helped virtually every youth program in the area including the 4H Club, Dorchester School, local daycare, and Moving Youth Forward. He is a founding Director and the President of the Greater Dorchester Moving Forward Co-operative where he has dedicated nearly 100 hours per month for the past several years.

He has also volunteered his time to the Westmorland Historical Society and sits on the Shiretown and Sandpiper Festival committees. Reg has been an extremely dedicated volunteer in community groups and organizations, however he also helps local seniors and families in need on a more personal and private basis with things like getting them firewood for the winter, helping with home repairs when they can't afford it, and simply being an all-around neighbour and friend to anyone in need.

Long-Term Service Award: Paul Embree
Paul Embree joined the Sackville Police Force in 1976 where he worked as a police officer until 2003. He then worked as the Sackville By-Law Officer for ten years. During those years of work, he also volunteered with a variety of places including Meals on Wheels for Seniors through the Drew Nursing Home, as a Crime Stoppers member, the breakfast program at Marshview Middle School, teaching bicycle safety at Salem Elementary School, teaching Halloween safety at both Marshview and Salem schools, a field trainer for the co-op program through Tantramar Regional High School, St. Paul's Anglican Men's Group, and as a delivery person for the local food bank.

In more recent years he's helped with the 50+ Aerobics program (including but not limited to delivering to the food bank in December), helped with and dressed as mascot for the Children's Parade during the Fall Fair, and helped with auctioneering at the Sackville Legion Seniors Fundraising.

He has also helped extensively with the Sackville Memorial Auxiliary including: selling tickets and taking baskets around to ticket locations for basket raffle; setting up, cleaning up and preparing food for the Auxiliary Spring Teas; and setting up and cleaning up for the monthly Auxiliary meetings.

Golden Long-Term Service Award: Lewis Estabrooks
Lewis has been a member of the Sackville Legion, Branch 26, 8th Hussars, for 54 years. He visited veterans and played in the military band, along with any other volunteer work that was needed to support this community.

He has been a member of a local church for 52 years. Lewis visited the sick in the hospital, as well as our local nursing home, where he would often lead songs or speak to the seniors from the Bible. Lewis also drove children to Sunday School and Awana meetings in the church van and is remembered by many for this reason. He taught Sunday School when needed and was always helping in any way he could.

Lewis also acted as President and volunteered with the Sackville Area Housing group for over 25 years, and is still actively involved today. He has helped many people find affordable housing. He has also been a St. Johns Ambulance member for 15 years and has also volunteered with the Red Cross. Along with all of this, Lewis was also a member of the school board for at least 10 years.

Golden Long-Term Service Award: Pauline Estabrooks
Pauline has served her community for over 50 years. As a member of a local church for 52 years where she taught Sunday School and led many children in songs before Sunday School. She sang in the local choir as needed during this time. She also visited the sick in the hospital, where she sometimes delivered hand knit shawls. She also delivered many fruit baskets and meals to those who were sick. She still gets many calls today for those who need support and prayers. Over the years she has also helped with services at the local nursing home, where she would bring in her guitar and sing for the residents.

Pauline was also a member of the St. Johns Ambulance. She volunteered her time to ride in the ambulance with those who were sick and had to be transferred to the hospital.

Titan Community Achievement Award: Mack Faulkner
Mack is the outgoing Student Council President at Tantramar Regional High School. Mack volunteers his time to almost all school events and anything that is happening in the community. He is all about getting everyone involved in everything. He is a strong academic student and a great leader to all of his peers. Mack sets a great example by organizing events that include everyone, so no student feels left out or out of place in their school.

Mack excels academically and is able to work quickly and efficiently, even when presented with difficult problems. Mack's passion for learning has helped him to become a peer tutor for other students who may need some extra help in their classes. His impressive academic career at Tantramar Regional High School speaks for itself; placing at the top of his class in many subjects and achieving honour roll in every reporting period of his High School career. He is always eager to learn more and increase his knowledge, taking many challenging classes while also balancing the demands of his various extracurricular activities.

As a valued member of the SRC he has taken on many responsibilities, including organizing dances, spirit weeks and events, our annual craft sale, supporting Titans athletics, assisting the treasurer, and organizing, planning, and executing assemblies.

He is extremely reliable and always gives 100% of his time and effort on any task given or chosen by him. Mack always tries to be one step ahead and will always be willing to give a helping hand wherever he is needed. Mack has gone from a very shy quiet kid to an outgoing, helpful, and kindhearted young man.

Titan Community Achievement Award: Quinn MacAskill

Quinn has always had a passion for the environment from the age of five. Quinn eagerly volunteered each year with the Town of Sackville's community Earth Day Spring clean-up. Her passion for helping the environment continued while at Marshview Middle school where she co-organized and led the school's 'Mighty Earth Warriors' Environment Club. She worked closely with the principal, teachers, community partners, and students to have Marshview successfully adopt a three-stream recycling system. The school became the first in the province and earned the Mighty Earth Warriors the Sackville Youth Citizens of the Year award in 2018. Quinn also volunteered her time to narrate an Eco360s professionally filmed documentary profiling Marshview's efforts. She presented to the Town Council regarding the school's recycling program as well as an 'Engage' project to reduce single use plastics in Town. In 2018 and 2019, after observing pencils and school supplies being thrown out at the end of the year, Quinn took it upon herself to start something she called 'The Pencil Project' where she collected unwanted school supplies from Marshview Middle School students and coordinated shipping them to students in need in Africa through a group called Develop Africa.

Quinn's community engagement and volunteering grew in 2019 when she worked with other youth to co-organize a group called the Sackville Youth Climate Change Coalition, which organised youth climate strikes in Sackville, as part of an international movement. At the age of 13 she emceed rallies, delivered speeches, conducted CBC radio interviews and worked hard to bring attention to the importance of listening to science and taking action on climate change. These demands for climate action resulted in the Town declaring a Climate Crisis and creating a Mayor's Roundtable on Climate Change in 2019. Quinn was an active member of the Roundtable, sitting on the Public Forum Panel in February 2020 and she co-organized the first-ever climate change awareness orientation session for councellors, and presented during the session. Stemming from this she also worked with the school to organise the first ever Climate Education Day at Marshview.

In 2019 Quinn was encouraged by her principal to apply to do a TedXYouth Talk in Moncton. She was selected and, at the age of 13, was the youngest participant. Her talk about climate art included her slam poetry which was an urgent call to action that moved audiences. This led to her speaking at the Atlantic We Day event in Halifax, NS in front of 10,000 youth. Each year since, Quinn's reputation as a public speaker grew as she is capable of speaking to a variety of audiences. It led to her being invited as a guest speaker or keynote speaker to events such as: Town of Sackville Girl Empowerment Camp, Rotary Club environment meeting, Learning for a Sustainable Future's Sustainability Education Alliance Education Conference, Salem Elementary School and Port Elgin School classes, Future City Builders conference, Youth Climate Forum, NBEN conferences.

When she started at Tantramar Regional High School in September of 2019 Quinn brought that passion and drive to contribute and make a difference in her school and Town, despite the COVID-19 Pandemic. At Tantramar High she has assisted with the Wetland Center and co-founded, and led, the Environment Club 'Titan Eco-Action'. Through Titan Eco-Action she has collaborated with local NGOs to host the first-ever Climate Change Education Day for the school before Covid. The group also produced and distributed a Local Holiday Gift Guide to encourage community members to support local businesses. In May 2023, she lead the planning, organisation and delivery of the Climate Change Education Day where she presented to all Tantramar students, and which included information booths with over 10 local organisations, including the Town of Tantramar, and a tree planting event where all students got to take tangible action by planting a tree on the school property.

Her volunteer efforts also included enthusiastic and active leadership and participation in the Dragon Boat fundraiser at the High School. She volunteered her time to organise fundraising events at the school and at the open, public Carnival Day event. Also at Tantramar Regional High School, Quinn was selected as a volunteer member for the High School Grad Committee which comes with many hours of coordinating, planning and implementing events and gatherings for the graduating class.

Quinn has also volunteered with the Levee on the Lake each summer since it started. As a member of the Lumber Jills Band, this volunteer opportunity allowed Quinn to play a part in bringing music to her community. At the Provincial level, from 2020-2023 Quinn served as the youth representative on the New Brunswick Environmental Network Steering Committee, providing a youth perspective for the organisation. As a New Brunswick Environmental Network Youth Caucus member she co-organized a conference "In the Red Zone - Youth Action, Climate Crisis, and COVID19" and provided feedback on New Brunswick Government 'Climate Action Plan' public consultation.

In 2021, Quinn's efforts were recognized with Sackville's Youth Citizen of the Year and in January 2023, her actions were recognized provincially when she was awarded the Queen Elizabeth II Platinum Jubilee Medal for "her outstanding service and citizenship and for her consistent leadership in the environmental and climate change movement in her province, her tireless voice calling attention to the climate emergency and her collaborative work to organize and take action on the climate crisis"

ParticipACTION Community Challenge

June was ParticipACTION month and Tantramar was very busy uploading active minutes in hopes of becoming the most active community in New Brunswick and in Canada. Residents of all ages and backgrounds joined forces, in hopes of making a mark in the annual Community Better Challenge hosted by ParticipACTION.

There were several successful events hosted to gain active minutes and Tantramar consistently held second place for all communities in New Brunswick!

Three community events were organized to celebrate ParticipACTION month and helped to energize Tantramar to get out and get active. The first event was Yoga in the Waterfowl Park, hosted by the awesome Stephanie Lebreton. All participants had a blast and enjoyed trying out some new and exciting yoga poses surrounded by the nature in the waterfowl park. The second event was a 3k town walk, which encouraged anybody who was available to get up off their desk chair, and get out for a brisk walk during lunch hour. Participants started at the RBC and got their active minutes in while walking a 3k loop around downtown Sackville. The last event hosted in honor of ParticipACTION month was the Great Family Bike Ride. Families came out to pedal together, and to create new memories while exploring the beautiful Trans Canada Trail.

Tantramar's commitment to an active lifestyle during the annual ParticipACTION month showcased their dedication and determination to be recognized as the most active community in New Brunswick and Canada. We should be finding out the final results very soon.

A Poem from our Poet Laureate

Small Consolations for the Climate Anxiety that Keeps You Up for Hours in the Night

You're not otherwise awake for it—
the light beginning to bleed
through the curtains,
first sign of life
on an empty planet.
After hours of the darkness
clinging heavily to your body,
lonely globe spinning
around your own stone gravity,
prop yourself up in bed.
Peek behind the screen.
See the horizon pink with plum bruises,
when all of a sudden, honey-gold squares
set fire to the drapery.
Check your pulse again.
You're not dead. You're not dying.
The gold begins to creep
across the room like molasses,
touching the laundry on the floor,
the polaroid on the shelf,
flooding the book
you've been struggling
to get through for months.
This bed may feel unsteady.
This old house may be crumbling.
But some things are still reliable.
Some things are still just right.
Talk yourself back to sleep.
It's the oldest parable:
it was dark,
then it got light.
