The Great North American Eclipse!

Did you know there is going to be a solar eclipse on April 8th this year? 🙂🌑

A total solar eclipse will take place at the Moon's ascending node on Monday, April 8, 2024, visible across North America and dubbed the Great North American Eclipse!

Although a solar eclipse can be beautiful and exciting, we want to ensure residents exercise proper eye safety. Do not look directly at the eclipse, as doing so can have long term negative side effects on your eyes! 👀

If you're interested in acquiring specific eyewear for the eclipse, ensure they meet the following requirements...

ISO-approved solar-eclipse glasses must meet certain safety requirements:

- No more than 0.00032 percent of the sun's light may be transmitted through the filters.
- The filters must be free of any defects, such as scratches, bubbles and dents.
- Handheld viewers must be large enough to cover both eyes.

We hope everyone enjoys the natural beauty while keeping their eyes nice and safe!

Municipal News

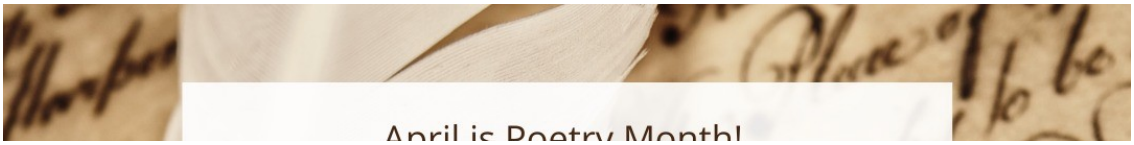

A Piece of Point de Bute History

Point de Bute, New Brunswick, holds a unique place in history due to its early Acadian settlement. In the late 1600s, Acadian Pierre Buhot made his home here, and the area originally named Pont à Buhot, evolved into Point de Bute.

This community, located near the Missaguash River leading to the Tantramar Marsh, played a strategic role during the 1755 conflict. It was the first point of attack by Monckton's army as it advanced from Fort Lawrence to cross the river on its way to attack Fort Beausejour.

This rich history underscores the area's significance in the broader narrative of the Acadian people and the conflicts of the time .

April Poem from our Poet Laureate - Laura Katherine Watson

Preservation Spell
I've kept us safe,
this version of us in the photograph,
all dressed up in our grandmother's kitchen
wearing mom's handmade clothes from the sixties that our grandmother had never thrown out—platform shoes, bomber jacket, crocheted, blue lace, relics of our mother's teenagehood—
she'd kept it all safe in her closet.
I keep the layout of our grandmother's house.
I keep the vinyl tile floor
and the ivy pattern of the wallpaper.
I keep the knickknacks by the TV
and the school pictures on the fridge,

I'll never go back there.
But I keep us.
I keep us safe.
